Since Austria Forcibly Took Provinces, Europe Has Been Disagreeing.

ity of the situation and is "sitting on the lid" at Whitehall. England Rendy.

England Rendy.

England has 27 dreadnoughts ready for immediate sorvice, as against 17 deeman dreadnoughts. Should Germany in any way threaten the French fleet, it is believed that a great armada would immediately strike.

To this prospective clash of armies and navies must be added the by no means negligible forces of Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece. Greece can put 1,500,500 men in the field and would naturally fall in with Russia. Bulgaria, according to indications given recently by king Ferdinand's tendencies, would no quots support Austria, while Greece, at present neutral, probably would support Servia against the triple alliance, in the hope of obtaining a sites of Albania in the new map which this European war would draw up.

As to Turkey, she would undoubted-as to Turkey, she would undoubted-ly await an opportunity, in the hope of regaining some of her lost provinces. Trouble Brewing 36 Years.

Trouble Brewing 36 Years.

The present war situation represents a crisis which has been the nightnare of Europe ever since the congress of Berlin, in 1872 Against it all nations have been commantly and increasingly preparing, arming and deliling, and building navies with foverish haate.

The congress of Berlin, composed of all the European powers, settled the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-5 in a way that was satisfactory to mether of the belligoronis. It imposed drastic reforms upon Turkey, reserving to the powers the right to use force to compel their execution, and it transferred from the caar of Russis to the powers the protectoral right over the Christian inhabitants of the Turkish empire.

Such a program might have worked excellently had there been, or could be, harmony among the several parties to the undertaking. Instead of that, almost immediately Europe found itself divided into two bestile camps, now represented respectively by the triple alliance of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, and the triple entente of Great Britain France and Russia. From that time the concert of powers found itself impotent to carry out the plans and docrees of the congress of Berlin in any important particular.

Turkey Takes Advantage.

Turkey Takes Advantage.

Turkey Takes Advantage.

Turkey, knowing the situation completely, boidly ignored them and went on its own way, oppressing, robbing, murdering and massacreing without let or hindrance beyond periodical protests and idle threats.

In like manner the Balkap states came to understand that the concert was powerless to prevent action against their common enemy, the suitan, when and the powers straightaway ordered them to desist. They started the war and in a few weeks were at the gates of Adrianople. Then the powers warned them that they would not allow the war to result in any loss of territory to Turkey.

Warning Was Fuelle.

to result in any loss of territory to Turker.

Warning Was Futile.

How futile was that warning history shows. All the concert of hurope has been able to accomplish in all these years has been to prevent an armed truce among the great powers, and even that has been no easy task.

Now the cod seems to have come. The assassination of the helr to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and the suspicion that it was planted in Beigrads with the knowledge, if not participation, of the Servian government—a auspicion strengthened by the creation of a regency and the temporary retirement of king Foter only a few days before the murder—naturally has made Austro-Hungary feel justified in treating the crime as a cases belli, and as emperor Francis Joseph has the hearty backing of kaiser Withelm, the situation that far is plain.

Concert Breaks Ip.

tion that far is plain.

Concert Breaks Up.

But here apparently is where the concert of Europe breaks up. War between Austria-Hungary and Servia, other things being equal hardly could result in anything other than the annexation of Servia. That would greatly reduce Rusian influence in the Balkans, and Hussia would not tolerate that without a fight. Thus the two armed camps of Europe are brought to the point of taking sides. The announced intention of Germany to support Austria-Hungary must needs bring the other members of the triple entents. Great Britain and France to the sid of Russia.

Once Averted.

the sid of Russia.

Once Averted.

What is happening and probably would have happening and probably would have happened in 1368 when Austria-Hungary annexed the Baitie provinces of Bosina and Herzgovina, over which under the peace of Berlin, she had exercised administrative control recogniting, however, the nominal auserainty of the Sublime Porte, if Hussia had not then been still crippied by the effects of her disastrous war with Japen. Even as it was the Servian people were mad for war, and it is to the credit of king Peter that he was able to provent it, recognizing that the enterprise would have been madness without the support of a great power.

madness without the specimen.

Dewer, instinct of race, and the hope of future territorial development, were aroused, and the mass of Servians felt ready to die in a struggle of despair rather than see their dream of the old Serb empire dissipated forever.

New Much Century.

rather than see their dream of the old Serb empire dissipated forever.

In Ninth Century.

Near the end of the ninth century the Servians occupied the Adriatic coast, including the present provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. In the 14th century one of their rulers, Stephen Dushan, took from the Greek empire, Albania and Macedonia, expecting to solidify a great Serb state to take the place of the disintersting. Greek empire, and oppose the new power to the advance of the Mohammedans in Europe. The effort was valu, and the Serba ware overthrown by the Turks; but the memory of that once racial greathess has never died out. When Bosnia and Herzegovina were annexed to Austria-Hungary, the Servians felt that a part, and the best part, of their ancient heritage, of which the Turk had robbed them, and which they believed should be theirs when the Turk should be dispossessed, had again been filched from them by Austria-Hungary, but more particularly through the influence of archduke Francis. Ferdinand and his creature, baron Archial. baron Arenthal

Francis. Ferdinand and his creature, baron Arenthal.

Servia Loses Fight.

At once upon the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Servia went among the powers urging her right to either these provinces, or, at least to the Sanjok of Novi Bazar which would give Servia a connection with Montenegro and access to the Adriatic sea. The effort was futile, and ever since the venom of revenge has been working in the disappointed kingdom. It was to be expected that it would take a personal direction against the life of archiuke Francis Perdinand, as it did. It was guite probable that in any plot to wreak this vengeance, the authorities of Servia would not be unenlightened, and, judging from their history, might well be particeps criminis.

Small Nations Active.

Small Nations Active.

Every war office and admiralty in Europe was occupied in preparations for eventualities, even the smaller countries such as Heiland, Belgium and Switzerland taking precautionary measures.

Then today came the formal declaration of war by Austria-Hungary, one of the members of the triple alliance, the other two countries of which are Germany and Italy.

Way Declaration Sent to Servia.
The notification of the fact was sent this afternoon to the Servian government, which has its temporary head-quarters at Krasuyevatz. It was anticipated here that a declaration of the beginning of hostilities would follow quickly on Germany's decision to hold aloof from any scheme of media-tion. The German foreign office had said that a conference of amhassadors would, in its opiniou, serve no useful purpose, while "conversations" between vision and St. Petersbure were still in progress.
